Donald T. Sterling

PRESIDENT

Donald T. Sterling purchased the Clippers for 13.5 million dollars on May 4, 1981 for five reasons.

"First of all, I love the sport of basketball," said Sterling. "I view it as a ballet. I never see enough of it. Second, I love the economic potential. Sports is big business in America today and it's going to get a lot bigger.

"Third, I love the emotional high of being involved with a professional sports franchise. There is nothing like the sports world. Fourth, I love the challenge. It's a different type of challenge than I have experienced in business or law.

"And finally, I love the city and the people of San Diego. It is a paradise here."

Sterling was born in Chicago and raised in Los Angeles, attending Roosevelt High. He did his undergraduate studies at UCLA before attending USC Law School.

"When I was four years old, my mother told me that I was going to be a lawyer," said Sterling. "And I came from the school that you did what your mother told you to do and that was that. So I became a lawyer."

Upon passing the bar, he ran a string of investments and legal victories into multi-million dollar profits.

Today Sterling is one of the largest real estate owners in Southern California and President of Sterling Stock and Bond Foundation, American Interstate Oil, Sterling Financial, the Beverly Hills Comstock Hotel and the Malibu Yacht Club. He also has sat on the Beverly Hills Municipal Court bench as a judge pro-tem.

On his NBA future, Sterling says, "I'm a very positive, confident and enthusiastic person and I will win with this team. Being in San Diego excites me. I think San Diego is a great city. I will never sell the Clippers. I have never sold anything I have ever bought. The Clippers are my team forever—and, hopefully, my son's after me. I'm a long-term person.

"I'm going to make San Diego proud of the Clippers."

The soft-spoken Sterling has many qualities. He's been called articulate, warm, honest, sensitive and sincere. And he's definitely available and accessible to the community.

"I want to be involved in the community. I'm going to build a strong organization responsive to the needs of the community. I am going to earn people's trust."

Ted Podleski

GENERAL MANAGER

Ted Podleski was named the first General Manager in Clippers' history on January 28, 1981 and has since made a major impact in the community.

Wrote Steve Bisheff of the San Diego Tribune, "The Clippers' Ted Podleski is one of the smoothest operators around."

Podleski is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the Clippers.

He came to the club from the Los Angeles Aztecs of the North American Soccer League, where he was General Manager of that team for three years.

Prior to taking the Aztecs' position, Podleski assisted Phoenix Suns General Manager Jerry Colangelo, the NBA's Executive of the Year in 1980-81, for nine years.

"Ted is a very strong merchandiser and a man who is ready to meet the challenge of the job," says Colangelo.

Podleski attended the University of New Mexico and served in the United States Marine Corps for three years. His first taste of San Diego came when he served in platoon 259, Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

While in the service, Podleski was an Armed Forces All-Far East selection in both basketball and baseball.

He and his wife Carol have two sons, Scott, 22, and Gregg, 20. Scott is a senior at Oral Roberts University and Gregg is a student at Citrus College.

Paul Silas

HEAD COACH

Paul Silas, one of the winningest players in NBA history, gave indications he'll be just as successful as a coach in his first year at the Clippers' helm in 1980-81.

Silas took over a team that went 35-47 in 1979-80 and had it playing at the .500 level for the final two months of the season. The Clippers finished 36-46 on the year after a 6-15 start.

The coach retired as an active player on September 19, 1980 needing just 17 games to establish an NBA record for most games played. He participated in 1,254 regular season contests and was just 16 games back of former Boston Celtic teammate John Havlicek. Initially he planned to be a player-coach for the Clippers.

"It came down to a choice between concentrating on coaching, or going for the record," said Silas. "I want to be a good coach."

There's no question he was a good player. He's the ninth all-time leading rebounder in NBA history with 12,357 and 59th in scoring with 11,782 points. He, along with Bill Russell and Nate Thurmond, are the only players to have scored more than 11,000 NBA points with more rebounds than points to their credit.

During his 16-year career, Silas played on three NBA championship teams, with Boston in 1973-74 and 1975-76 and with Seattle in 1978-79.

Since joining the St. Louis Hawks as the 15th player chosen in the nation out of Creighton University in 1964, these are some of his achievements:

--Played on seven regular season divisional championship teams.

--Was in the playoffs 14 times in 16 seasons.

--His teams posted a .554 (93-75) winning percentage in post-season play.

--His teams won 50 or more games in the regular season eight times and 60 or more games twice.

--His teams averaged 50 wins per season for 16 campaigns.

--Twice was selected to play in the NBA All-Star Game.

As a coach, Silas stresses fundamentals and teamwork, his main assets as a player.

"At this level, everyone has talent," says Silas. "But the Kareems (Abdul-Jabbar) and Dr. J's (Julius Erving) are the exceptions. This game is won with smarts, heart and guts, not on sheer physical talent.

"I wasn't the most talented player, but I knew the game. I thought the game, and I used what talent the good Lord gave me."

Silas grew up in Oakland. "I lived across the street from a playground," he recalled. "We played from sunup to sundown."

He was a prep standout at McClymonds High in Oakland before earning All-American honors at Creighton.

Paul and his wife Carolyn have two children, Paula, 14, and Stephen, 8. The family resides in Rancho Santa Fe.

Bill Westphal

ASSISTANT COACH

Bill Westphal is beginning his second year as Paul Silas' right hand man on the Clippers bench.

Westphal joined the Clippers last season after spending the previous seven years as head coach at Occidental College. In those seven seasons, Westphal compiled an overall record of 111-77, posted a Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference mark of 64-20 and captured three SCIAC championships. Westphal's Tigers won conference titles in 1974-75, 1975-76, and 1979-80. His teams never had a losing season in SCIAC play in seven campaigns, and his best overall seasons were 1975-76 and 1976-77 when Occidental owned 21-7 marks.

Before he took the post at Occidental, Westphal coached three seasons at Glendale High School, where he turned the program around. He took a team that was 4-18 and in three years boosted the record to 23-4 and a fifth-place CIF ranking.

Westphal's own playing career started at Aviation High in Manhattan Beach. As a senior, he averaged 22 points per game, earned All-CIF honors and was named South Bay Player of the Year.

From there, Westphal went to the University of Southern California and was named the Trojans' Most Improved Player in 1965 and Most Inspirational Player in 1966.

He played two seasons with the Athletes in Action following his collegiate career before entering the coaching profession.

Among his honors as a coach are being selected Coach of the Year in District 6 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches in 1976 and 1980.

He's the older brother of Paul Westphal, an All-Star guard in the NBA.

Bill and his wife, Lynne, have three daughters, Kristie, 13, Kelly, 7, and Kendra, 4. The family resides in Poway.

Pete Babcock

ASSISTANT COACH/DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING

Pete Babcock is beginning his second year on Paul Silas' coaching staff. Besides his coaching duties, Babcock is in charge of scouting collegiate players for the upcoming NBA draft.

Babcock began his scouting career in 1973 as a member of Bertka's Views Scouting Service. The following two years he scouted for the Utah Jazz. He then moved on as a scout for the Los Angeles Lakers in 1976 and in 1978 he joined the Milwaukee Bucks' scouting staff. From 1977 through 1979, he also was head coach at Greenway High School in Phoenix. Greenway was 32-14 in Babcock's final two seasons there.

He began his coaching career as an assistant at his high school alma mater, Maryvale High in Phoenix, in 1971. After one season at Maryvale, he spent the next five years as an assistant at Washington High in Phoenix.

Babcock graduated from Arizona State University in 1971 with a degree in political science. He originally was pursuing a career in law at the University of Arizona, but soon decided to enter the coaching field.

Pete and his wife, Yolanda, a high school teacher, have one daughter, Amy, 8.

Mike Shimensky

Mike Shimensky was named the Clippers' trainer just prior to the start of training camp.

Shimensky came to the Clippers from the University of Arizona where he was assistant athletic trainer. At the U-of-A he was in charge of the basketball and track programs.

He worked a year and a half with Dr. Paul Steingard, the team physician of the Phoenix Suns, at the Sports Medicine Clinic in Phoenix before moving on to Arizona.

Shimensky has also been trainer for the Glendale Unified School District, which consists of nine high schools, a teacher-trainer at Paradise Valley High in Phoenix and athletic trainer consultant for Grand Canyon College.

He graduated with a B.A. in Health and Physical Education from Central Washington State College in 1968 and received his M.A. from the University of Arizona in 1973 in P.E. with a specialization in athletic training.

Mike is married (Roberta). The couple has a boy (Daniel, 19 months).

Jerry Gross

PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Jerry Gross, a 15-year veteran National Basketball Association broadcaster, was named "Voice of the Clippers" on Sept. 1, 1981.

Gross will handle the play-by-play duties on radio (KOGO 600 AM) and television (XETV Channel 6) for all Clipper games during the 1981-82 season.

Gross first broke into the NBA with the St. Louis Hawks. He did the Hawk's games for eight years, then did the San Diego Rockets for two years and the Golden State Warriors for one.

He also did ABC's NBA Game-of-the-Week for four years, CBS' Game-of-the-Week for another two years and did NBA games for Home Box Office for an additional two seasons.

The versatile Gross also has been a play-by-play announcer of major league baseball for 13 years with the St. Louis Cardinals and San Diego Padres and for five years he did the San Diego Chargers of the NFL.

He's currently Sports Director of KOGO and does selected free lance assignments for ESPN and USA Cable Network along with being President of Jerry Gross Productions, a radio-TV production facility company.

Gross and his wife Gretchen have two children, Jeff, 22, and Susan, 19, and reside in LaJolla.

CLIPPERS FRONT OFFICE STAFF

PATRICIA SIMMONS, Vice President Promotions/Director of Community Relations

As Vice President of Promotion/Director of Community Relations, Patricia Simmons is responsible for working out promotions for various Clipper home games and establishing a good rapport between the San Diego community and the Clippers. She also is assisting in the Clippers' new advertising campaign as well as being the liason between the community and Clipper President Donald T. Sterling. Patricia was born in Panama and grew up in New York and the New England states. She moved to San Diego in 1956 and completed her education here. In addition to an active modeling career, she has also been involved in the management of a $50-million condominium project and participated in public relations and promotions for the Playboy Clubs International, Inc. Patricia's varied interests also included designing and marketing of an exclusive line of gold jewelry. She was the President of Going Gold, which marketed jewelry in San Diego, Chicago, New York and Hawaii. An active theatre buff and sports enthusiast, she is looking forward to a long and exciting career in the NBA.

PAUL MENDES, Business Manager

Paul Mendes, one of the original Clippers employees when the franchise moved from Buffalo in 1978, was promoted to Business Manager last February. Mendes assists General Manager Ted Podleski in the day-to-day business operations of the club. He joined the Clippers in July of 1978 as Administrative Assistant. The following season he became Director of Ticket Operations. Mendes was a standout baseball player at the University of San Diego from 1974 through 1978. He was selected the Toreros' Most Valuable Player his senior season. He was Sports Information Director his four years at USD. He graduated with a degree in Religious Studies. Paul and his wife, Karen, have one daughter, Taralyn, 1. The family resides in La Mesa.

STEVE LEES, Director of Marketing

Steve Lees is now in his third season as the San Diego Clippers' Director of Marketing. Lees joined the club just prior to the start of the 1979-80 season from the San Diego Sockers of the North American Soccer League. As the Sockers' Director of Sales and Promotions, Lees was responsible for boosting the Sockers season ticket sales ten-fold. Lees has a law degree from Western State Law School, a Masters in Journalism/Public Relations from Ohio State University and a Bachelors from the University of Kansas in Marketing. While at Ohio State, he spent two years in the athletic public relations department. Steve and his wife Robin have three children, Oliver, 6, Michael, 3, and Stacy, 1. They reside in San Diego.

DICK CHRISTMAN, Director of Public Relations

Dick Christman, a lifelong resident of San Diego County, was named the Clippers' Director of Public Relations last April. Christman came to the Clippers from Saddleback College in Mission Viejo, where he was Sports Information Director/Media Specialist. Prior to that he was Sports Information Director at United States International University and Assistant Sports Editor of the Vista Press. Christman attended Vista High School, Palomar College and USIU. He graduated from USIU with a degree in Sociology-Anthropology. He started in baseball for two years at Palomar and for another two seasons at USIU. Dick and his wife Pam have three children, Andrea, 7, Bradley, 4, and Justin, nine months. The family presently resides in Vista.

DEE RUTLEDGE, Controller

Dee Rutledge is entering her third season as the Clippers' Controller. Prior to joining the NBA club, she was the financial analyst for Scripps Clinic Medical Institutions in La Jolla for four years and Controller of Valley Memorial Hospital in the Palm Springs area for three years. Originally from the Chicago area, Dee holds degrees in accounting, music and drama. Her second love is the theatre. She's a member of actor's equity and has performed professionally with dinner theatres in the Midwest and Southern states as well as doing radio shows and commercials.

CLIPPERS RADIO/TELEVISION

All 82 Clipper regular-season games will be carried on KOGO Radio (600 AM) and 16 road contests will be seen on XETV (Channel 6) with Jerry Gross, the "Voice of the Clippers" providing the play-by-play commentary for both.

It's the first season the Clippers have teamed with KOGO and the second year for the association with XETV.
